

Jobs, health care, water

SACHIN P MAMPATTA & ABHISHEK WAGHMARE
Mumbai, 25 March

A voter survey by non-governmental organisation Association for Democratic Reforms suggested disappointment with the government's performance on key issues, including jobs, providing healthcare and drinking water.

All top-three priorities had an average rating of 2.15-2.55, indicating below average performance. Other priorities include better roads and public transport, agricultural issues, and law and order matters. The government fared poorly on these indicators as well.

The survey was conducted between October and December, 2018. It covered 534 Lok Sabha constituencies and 270,000 respondents participated in it. A total of 46.8 per cent of respondents put employment as their top priority. Another 34.6 per cent cited healthcare as the most important issue. Drinking water was third with 30.5 per cent.

"The government's performance score on the top-10 voters' priorities is below average... On Better Employment Opportunities, voters who identified mili-which is the topmost voters' priority, the performance of the government has been rated as one of the worst (2.15 out of 5)," the survey said. Defence and military issues were low on the list of both urban and rural voters. A total of 44.21 per cent of rural voters saw 'Better Opportunities' as their biggest priority. A "strong defence/military" was a priority for 30.2 per cent of rural voters, while terrorism got 3.34 per cent.
