DELIVERY PLATFORMS AGREE TERMS WITH HOTEL, RESTAURANT BODIES

Swiggy, Zomato avert boycott in Bengaluru

ANEES HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, August 7

FOOD DELIVERY PLATFORMS Swiggy and Zomato have agreed to seek a restaurant's approval before running discounts funded by restaurants after the Bangalore Hotels Association (BHA), Karnataka State Hotels Association (KSHA), National Restaurant Association of India (NRAI), and the city's bar and restaurant associations, threatened to take the restaurants off the apps from August 15 over unauthorised promotions and disputed deductions from payouts.

Following the assurances from the platforms, the associations have deferred the deadline to September 1, giving them until August 31 to implement the changes.

At the centre of the dispute is consent for discount campaigns run by the apps. Restaurants alleged the platforms enrolled them into promotional campaigns without consent and later recovered the cost from their payouts.

Zomato moved first on Monday, agreeing to make promotional campaigns opt-in instead of automatically enrolling restaurants, seek approval through an OTP before campaigns go live, and review complaints over past wrongful deductions on an outlet-by-outlet basis.

Swiggy followed on Friday after discussions led by food marketplace, dineout and crew CEO Rohit Kapoor, food marketplace chief business officer Sidharth Bhakoo, and dineout and scenes CEO Swapnil Bajpai. The company agreed to the same consent requirement, refund charges collected for campaigns run without approval, and sign a memorandum of understanding with industry bodies by next week.

Restaurant bodies have also objected to the automatic renewal of promotional campaigns, saying click-based thresholds can trigger renewals without fresh consent. They want every extension to require separate approval.

Air India pushes new framework for pilots

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi/Mumbai, August 7

AIR INDIA PILOTS who are eligible and want to become commanders on narrow- and wide-body planes will be compulsorily required to shift to Air India Express, with the Tata Group-owned loss-making airline putting in place a new framework based on a common seniority pool, according to sources.

Under the framework, senior first officers shifting to Air India Express for narrow-body Boeing 737 planes will be given a one-time bonus of ₹10 lakh and the existing commanders of these aircraft at Air India Express will be paid ₹21 lakh over a three-year period, the sources said.

Upon getting the commandership, the sources said such pilots will be required to be at the operating base chosen by Air India Express for at least two years, which can be extended by up to six months.

Ola Electric narrows loss to ₹336 cr, revenue falls 45%

FE BUREAU
Chennai, August 7

OLA ELECTRIC REPORTED its lowest consolidated net loss in seven quarters at ₹336 crore for the quarter ended June 2026 (Q1FY27), helped by a sharp reduction in operating expenses, even as revenues fell by 45% year-on-year (y-o-y) to ₹455 crore due to poor vehicle sales.

Consolidated operating expenses fell 35% y-o-y to ₹333 crore, helping the company reduce its operating Ebitda loss to ₹165 crore from ₹237 crore in the same quarter last year. The Ebitda loss was broadly in line with the Bloomberg estimate of ₹166 crore, while the net loss came in lower than analysts' estimate of ₹385 crore.

Revenue, however, missed the Bloomberg estimate of ₹568 crore and also fell short of the company's own guidance of ₹500-550 crore. Ola Electric had guided for 40,000-45,000 vehicle orders in Q1FY27 but reported 44,071 orders. Actual deliveries dropped nearly 70% y-o-y to 39,192 units.

The firm said the June quarter was the first full quarter after its FY26 reset and marked its transition from restructuring to disciplined scale.

On a sequential basis, vehicle registrations nearly doubled to 43,921 units, while market share expanded to 8.4% from 5.1%.

Bhavish Aggarwal, founder, chairman and MD of Ola Electric, said electric scooters, motorcycles and energy storage products will pick up in the coming quarters as it announced its expansion into the dealership model without relying only on company-owned stores.

Dabur secures HC stay on FSSAI ban on items with '100%' claims

ASHUTOSH MISHRA
New Delhi, August 7

THE DELHI HIGH Court on Friday stayed the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India's (FSSAI) order directing Dabur India to halt the sale of several food products carrying "100%" claims, in an interim relief to the FMCG major.

Justice Amit Mahajan held that Dabur had established a prima facie case and observed that the prohibitory order should not have been passed without giving the company an opportunity to be heard. The court stayed the operation of the regulator's order and posted the matter for further hearing after two weeks.

Earlier this week, FSSAI had directed Dabur to immediately stop the sale of food products carrying claims such as "100% Natural", "100% Pure", "100% Purity Guaranteed", "100% Organic" and "100% Tender Coconut Water". The order covered products including honey, apple cider vinegar, virgin coconut oil, sesame oil, cow ghee, coconut water and coconut milk, among others.

The regulator alleged that such claims were ambiguous, unverifiable and likely to mislead consumers, in violation of the Food Safety and Standards (Advertising and Claims) Regulations, 2018. It had also raised objections over the use of the Jaivik Bharat logo on certain organic products without valid FSSAI organic endorsement.

'No material impact of US FDA warning'

DABUR INDIA HAS said that the warning letter issued by the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) will have no material impact on its financial or operational performance, as it relates only to a small part of its Silvassa manufacturing facility that produces private label products for export to the US. Domestic products are not affected by the warning, the firm added. —FE BUREAU

Penalty on AWL Agri for substandard oil

FOOD SAFETY REGULATOR FSSAI has imposed a penalty on AWL Agri Business for selling substandard fortified 'Fortune' refined sunflower cooking oil, with the company saying it will pursue legal remedies against the decision.

In a social media post on Friday, the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) informed that an adjudication order has been passed and a penalty has been imposed on AWL Agri Business.

The action was taken after the regulator found that a sample collected from Goa failed in lab testing, as the Vitamin D level was significantly below the prescribed limits.

The order has been passed against AWL Agri Business for "manufacturing and marketing a substandard fortified edible oil (Fortune 'Fryola' refined sunflower seed oil)," FSSAI said.

Reacting to the FSSAI decision, the company said it has not yet received a certified copy of the order. The company said it would pursue appropriate legal remedies, while reiterating that it remains fully committed to FSSAI norms. "Based on the information available to us...this is not a product safety concern, and the said sample was entirely safe for consumption," it said. —PTI

SC seeks Airtel, Vi replies to govt plea on spectrum fees

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, August 7

THE SUPREME COURT on Friday sought responses from Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea on the Centre's appeal against the Bombay High Court verdict striking down the retrospective levy of one-time spectrum charges (OTSC). The levy, the demand for which was first raised in 2013, runs into about ₹22,000 crore across the industry, including ₹3,300 crore in bank guarantees.

A Bench of Justices BV Nagarathna and R Mahadevan issued notices to the telcos and indicated that it would decide at the next hearing whether the appeal should be heard along with a pending matter arising from the Madras High Court's ruling in the Aircel case.

The Centre has moved the apex court, challenging the Bombay HC's June 8 ruling

Arguing for the Centre, Additional Solicitor General Vikramjit Banerjee contended that spectrum is a public resource and that telecom operators should pay its market value. The Centre also opposed the release of bank guarantees furnished by the telcos, stating the dispute involved more than ₹3,300 crore of public money. Counsel for the telecom operators countered that companies could not be subjected to fresh financial liabilities years after spectrum had been allotted and payments made under the prevailing licensing framework, stressing the need for certainty in commercial arrangements.

Lawyers representing the Centre also urged the apex court to consider the present appeal along with the Aircel matter, pointing to the conflicting conclusions reached by the two high courts on the same issue.

Digital-first FMCG brands becoming growth engines

HUL HAS RUN a similar playbook, deploying over ₹3,500 crore on bolt-on acquisitions and premium platforms during FY26, with heavy investment behind Minimalist and OZiva. In a recent media interaction, CEO & MD Priya Nair said the company's future strategy would centre on sharper consumer segmentation, brand-building, innovation and more digital-first brands, as it targets a younger, modern and desirable product portfolio.

Emami has outlined perhaps the most aggressive acquisition roadmap among peers. "Our consistent profitability, cash generation and debt-free balance sheet give us the flexibility to pursue promising new-age consumer businesses," Vice-Chairman and Managing Director Harsha V Agarwal said in the company's FY26 annual report. The Kolkata-based company has set up a dedicated new-age business vertical to identify and acquire founder-led brands across wellness, functional beverages and personalised beauty. Recent buys include Axiom Ayurveda and a majority stake in IncNut Digital, owner of Vedix and SkinKraft.

ITC, too, sees premiumisation and shifting consumer preferences as structural opportunities. "Today's maximiser consumer simultaneously seeks taste and nutrition, convenience and trust, value as well as premium experiences," Chairman and Managing Director Sanjiv Puri said at the company's 115th annual general meeting last month, noting that India's consumption landscape was being reshaped by rising aspirations, health-conscious consumers and digital commerce—and that ITC was building a portfolio of future-ready brands to serve these evolving needs.

Analysts say the buying has grown more disciplined after the first wave of cash-burning D2C investments. "Three years ago, companies were buying growth. Today, they're buying profitable premium brands that can be scaled quickly through their distribution networks," said Abneesh Roy, executive director, Nuvama Institutional Equities.

Karan Taurani, executive vice-president at Elara Capital, said digital-first brands give incumbents access to faster-growing consumption segments without disrupting their core portfolios. "Categories such as wellness, premium personal care and functional foods are growing faster than mass FMCG and benefit from digital discovery and quick commerce," he said.

For India's FMCG majors, the message is clear: digital-first businesses have graduated from experimental bets to a strategic pillar—driving premiumisation, accelerating innovation and delivering a larger share of incremental growth than the legacy portfolios that funded them.
